Bible Decoder is an application that enables you to discover different aspects of the holly text. You can explore the text by English or Hebrew words and you can view the results with synchronized texts in both languages and also perform various code searches, including gematria and the well known ELS code searches (popularly known as the Bible Codes). In addition, Bible Decoder is unique in its ability to import any text source in almost any language and then perform code searches on that text. You are no longer limited to doing searches on the Hebrew text since Bible Decoder's flexibility now enables you to research and compare the phenomena on any text you choose. This crash course should only take a few minutes and although it won't make you a fluent Hebrew reader, it should give you a basic understanding of the Hebrew letters and how they form words. Few claims have received so much attention and stirred up so much controversy as the findings of the Bible codes. These suggest that embedded in the Bible are secret codes that reveal all events. Bible Decoder was written to enable anyone to investigate the Bible text and search for possible codes. Here are some key features of "Bible Decoder":
- One of the fastest (if not the fastest) code search engine.
- Unique ability to perform code searches on texts other than the Bible, in order to compare findings.
- Lightning fast searches for English or Hebrew words within the Bible text.
- Synchronized view of Hebrew and English texts for each verse in the Bible.
- Extensive help that includes explanations on the various code search methods as well as an introduction to Hebrew.
- Limitations: Evaluation Copy. You may use the SOFTWARE without charge on an evaluation basis. In the unregistered version, the matrix display for found codes is disabled.
The Hobbit: The Battle of the Five Armies Blu-ray Review Reviewed by Dr. Svet Atanasov on October 23, 2014 The Hobbit: The Battle of the Five Armies continues to be a high quality and visually stunning addition to Peter Jackson's pre-Gollum trilogy The Hobbit, the third and final chapter of this series. It's a decent conclusion to this series, which again does not disappoint, except for the finale, which seems kind of sudden. One of the things that I find most interesting about The Hobbit: The Battle of the Five Armies is how it's handled the Bible Decoder is a package of four computer programs. Each of these programs uses a unique but complementary methodology to search for code within the Biblical text. These programs are not designed to search for hidden codes within pictures or other types of images (as is the case with the ELS software) but rather to perform a simple text search. These code searches are based on an ancient text-matching technique called "Linguistic Sign Language" or "LIS". As opposed to a traditional text search, LIS searches look for two different criteria. One is a linguistic pattern and the other a numeric value. These are two criteria that are combined together in order to form an enhanced search that is of value in detecting code. If you are interested in this subject, you may wish to purchase the LIS books that accompany this package. Use the first program, "Bible Decoder", to search the English text for words and text. This search is of course limited to the English words, but you can limit this search to any Hebrew words in any order. All other programs in the package work similarly. However, each of the other three programs has a unique set of features. Click on any of the four programs or the two options at the bottom of the interface. You may try any or all of them before purchasing. It is best to evaluate all four programs at the same time since they work independently of each other. The four programs are: Learn Hebrew LIS. This program will teach you how to learn Hebrew in a simple, entertaining manner. The concept is simple. As you learn a word, you will have a red flag and a smiley face on the left and right sides of the word. For example, if you learn the word "echad" and you are immediately taught the word "one". So if you learn the word "echad", you will be taught that one is the number "one". The same applies to each Hebrew letter. If you learn a word and the flag and smiley face on the left and right sides are moving, then that is a known word. Learn Hebrew. Learn Hebrew is a program that is like Learn LIS but with the addition of a dictionary. In addition, Learn Hebrew has an easy to use Hebrew-English translator that enables you to translate an English phrase into Hebrew. At the same time, if you translate the Hebrew phrase into English, Learn Hebrew will translate the English phrase back into Hebrew. Hebrew for
